

President's Message

---

Hello,

Welcome to North Island College's Fall 2020 Continuing Education Guide – your pathway to relevant and engaging learning and training across the region.

NIC's Continuing Education and Training Department is offering a wide variety of innovative and interactive programs online for the first time. No matter where you live, you can safely advance your education needs with us this fall, while following physical distancing guidelines. This fully digital guide provides for easier registration than ever before. Details about how each program is delivered – in-class, online or a blended model – is available in its individual description and courses easily link to our website and online registration system.

This guide offers a great overview of the many NIC Continuing Education courses and programs, which were developed with the support of many community partners. I would like to thank them, and you, for trusting NIC to meet your educational needs.

You'll also find important information and key dates for one of Canada's most vibrant ElderCollege communities, as well as the Joy of Lifelong Learning program, which offers students, 55 or better, access to exceptional NIC faculty, facilities and more than 80 academic arts, science, creative writing and fine arts courses at reduced rates.

Thank you for learning with NIC.

Sincerely,

John Bowman
President, North Island College
